

MARRIAGE VOWS PLIGHTED AT D. RIPLEY JACKSON HOME

Miss Marian Brown Becomes Bride of Oscar J. Cornelieussen
Under a Beautiful Floral Canopy—Couple Depart for Honeymoon at Forest Home

The home of D. Ripley Jackson, Brand boulevard and San Fernando road, was the scene of a beautiful home wedding last evening, when Mr. Jackson's cousin, Miss Marian Brown, and Oscar John Cornelieussen, were united in marriage. Dr. Judd, of Honolulu, who is attending a convention in Los Angeles, officiated, and Mr. Jackson entertained with a solo before the ceremony. He was accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Kitt, organist of St. Mark's Episcopal church, who also played Greig's "Norwegian Bridal Procession," as the wedding march. Little Grace Anna Jackson was flower girl, and wore white organdie adorned with yellow and blue ribbons. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Whitney of Los Angeles attended as matron of honor and best man. Mrs. Whitney was handsomely gowned in pink satin and the young and attractive bride wore a beautiful white satin gown trimmed with white chantilly lace, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom and best man were in full evening dress as were most of the men guests. The bride's aunt, Mrs. E. A. Turner, of Honolulu, gave the bride away and as the clock announced the hour of 9, Dr. Judd pronounced the pair before him "man and wife."

Mrs. Jackson, the hostess, was attired in a beautiful jet black and gold gown. Mrs. J. D. Frazier wore black lace not over blue silk, and Miss Ruth Waterman a pretty yellow brocade satin gown. Mrs. Shields was attired in a beautiful net gown garnished with mustard-colored silk fringe. The house was beautifully decorated with palms, eucalyptus leaves and ferns combined with white roses. The beautiful floral canopy, under which the solemn vows were taken, was made by Mr. Jackson himself.

DREAMS COME TRUE FOR A VISITOR TO GLENDAL

Secretary Kimball of the Glendale Elks' Lodge scrapes a passing acquaintance with a good many "Brothers" in the course of the year, who visit the lodge. One whose name has escaped him called the other day and confided some interesting news. He came from the east and said he had traveled in many parts of the United States. For years he has carried in his mind an ideal or "dream city," that he had long since ceased to expect to find this side of the New Jerusalem; but to his great joy he had really discovered it, and this "dream city" is Glendale.

Mr. Kimball has no fear that the dream will be shattered if he comes to live here, and Mr. Kimball ought to know, for he himself has resided in Glendale for a good many years and began residence here when it was not nearly so attractive as it now is.

ADDITIONAL GROUND IS ACQUIRED BY UNIVERSITY

Glendale students who are attending the Southern Branch of the University of California and those who expect to make the "Cub" school their alma mater will be interested in learning that 7.12 acres of land, lying directly south of the present site, were yesterday acquired by the university as a provision for anticipated expansion.

It is probable that an additional 7.12 acres, adjoining the section purchased, will be acquired in the near future. The sum paid for the land approximating $70,000, is said to have been effected through the efforts of Robert Stroul, comptroller of the state university.

Rumors that the Southern Branch might be sold and another branch university erected in Griffith Park were discouraged yesterday by Dr. E. C. Moore, who, it is said, announced that there was no active move on foot to move the branch.

The best sermon is the one that goes over your head and hits the other fellow.

MONTE VISTA HOME WILL OPEN ABOUT MIDDLE OF JULY

All Rooms Are Completely
Furnished and Ready for Occupancy

MANY GIFTS RECEIVED

Large Number On Waiting List, Eager for Outing
at Institution

Mrs. Ralph Meeker of East Colorado street, who, with the assistance of a Glendale committee has worked very hard to secure funds and labor and contributions to equip the kitchen at the Monte Vista Welfare Home, announces that it will be opened to public inspection Saturday and Sunday, July 16 and 17, and she hopes Glendale will take an interest in, and visit it.

Already there is a waiting list of women and children eager to have the kind of an outing this institution will afford. Mrs. Meeker states that all the rooms are now furnished and ready for use and the grounds are being put in order, particularly the playgrounds and all will be fine as a fiddle when visitors are admitted.

While many communities have united to make possible this country club for the poor, Glendale led all the rest because in undertaking to furnish the kitchen she found herself pledged to equip a kitchen suite of four rooms after she had laid floors and otherwise made them fit for use. The smoke of battle is now over except that the committee has an indebtedness of $175 to $200 to make good for the final furnishings, all of which are in the expensive class. When it is all reckoned up bills show that had all the labor which has been so generously contributed by Glendale artisans been paid for at union rates, and had all the equipment been purchased at retail prices, the total would have footed up to about $2,000. As the accounts stand, however, wholesalers have been generous as well as workmen, and friends of the enterprise have made many gifts outright. The net cost in cash will run under $500.

One of the latest and most interesting achievements of Mrs. Meeker has been the securing of a $250 refrigerator for $75. In telling about this wonderful find she explains that this cooling chest was purchased to be shipped to a missionary in Africa and for some reason was never sent, possibly because there would be no ice there to store in it. Be that as it may, the owner was about to place it on the market when appealed to on behalf of the Monte Vista Home. Learning that it was a philanthropy she agreed to sell it for $75 and now it adorns the Glendale kitchen in that institution and makes Mrs. Meeker's heart swell with pride and joy when ever she views its ample proportions.

She reports that Mrs. A. A. Barton has just given her a fireless cooker for the home, thus adding to cooking appliances which include besides this, a wood and a coal stove, and an electric plate. The class taught by Mrs. Parker in the Episcopal Sunday School has contributed a nice lot of well-hemmed towels, and Mrs. Everts of Central avenue has given aluminum cups for the mid-day picnics which are planned for the little inmates.

COLORADO, WEST OF BRAND, BECOMING BUSINESS SITE

Colorado, between Brand and Central, is doomed as a residence district, in the opinion of Wallace Robinson, who several years ago built a handsome home at 212. Other residences on the south side of the street are those of Councilman Davis at 118, and smaller houses at 204, 208, 216 and 230. On the north side are the Salstrom and Morrison residences at 221 and 227. There is also a large residence at the corner of Orange, facing east on the latter street. But the immense new Ford garage just across the street from this latter, the small buildings on the McEnany corner and the brick building going up at 130 are evidences of the rapid march of the business zone. And now it is said that a brick building 100x100 is soon to be erected between 216 and 230, in which case the residents will consider that the flat has gone forth for them to move on.

Ship Beer to Havana
(By International News Service)
BOSTON, July 7.—Cuba may be the wettest country in the world, but native Cubans still like American-made beer, as evidenced by the fact that 1,500 large packages of malts were placed aboard the U. S. Fruit steamer San Pablo, which sailed for Havana recently. The cargo is the property of American brewing houses and will be changed into a little stronger than one-half of one per cent beverage by the addition of water and a few other ingredients.

ELKS POURING INTO SOUTHLAND FOR GREAT ANNUAL CONVENTION

Many Delegates Are Already in Los Angeles—Purple and White Prevail

Purple and white will from now on until the termination of the Elks' reunion be the predominating color scheme in Los Angeles for members of the "Hello-Bill" fraternity are pouring into that city with each incoming train and will continue to arrive, particularly from eastern points, up to as late a time as Monday of next week.

Delegations from Jackson, Mich., and St. Louis arrived yesterday and numerous representatives from Chicago, Seattle and Tacoma lodges are due to arrive in the southland Friday and Saturday. In order that their reception may be as home-like as possible the Board of Public Works of Los Angeles plans to begin decorating city offices today with purple and white, emblematic clocks and antlers. Tomorrow general headquarters of the reunion will be established in the lobby of the Pacific Electric building. All visiting delegates are requested to register there so that they may be directed to hotels and furnished with other information to assure their comfort and entertainment.

ARTHUR C. BROWN IS NEW PRESIDENT OF COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

Arthur C. Brown of 201 West Milford, who has been a member of the Los Angeles County Board of Education for over a year, has just been elected president of that body, an honor that was a great surprise to him but nevertheless deserved because of the executive ability he has displayed. Other members of the Board are: Mrs. Jennie Tucker Baker of El Monte, George C. Bush, superintendent of South Pasadena city schools, Dr. J. N. Lacy, of the Huntington Park High School.

The examination of applicants seeking certificates to teach constitutes the chief business of the Board at this time. Because of its climatic and other advantages, Los Angeles County attracts teachers from all parts of the country. One hundred applicants have been examined this week. Besides those who come in from outside counties or states, quite a sprinkling of high school graduates took the examination, some of them just to test their knowledge, others with a desire to teach in district schools of the county. It is a very stiff examination and only a small proportion of the high school graduates who have had no normal training can come through with sufficient credits to win the coveted certificate.

Mr. Brown has been principal of McKinley Junior High of Los Angeles city for many years.

CARPENTER REPORTS THEFT OF TOOLS

The theft of a number of carpenter's tools marked with the stamp H.A.F. was reported at police headquarters this morning by H. A. Fraser, 1443 Rock Glen avenue. According to Mr. Fraser the tools were probably stolen from his home between 7 and 10 last night.

The thief made off with the following: Two hammers, one hatchet, four squares, one level, one wrecking bar, one draw knife, one saw clamp, one saw set, one saw jointer, four saws, one roll of bits and one brace.

GLENDAL ELKS ARE ALL READY FOR BIG CONCLAVE

Large Number of Members of Local Lodge Expected to March in Parade

OFFICERS ON ELEPHANT
Special Features Are Planned for Entertainment of Visiting Elks

Secretary Kimball reports that as the date for the opening of the great Elks' Conclave approaches, enthusiasm grows among members of the Glendale lodge. Exalted Ruler Alfred Priest estimates that about 700 members will be in line in the marching parade next Thursday. Four hundred Palm Beach suits have been ordered by members through the lodge, and it is certain that many members already have light suits which they will wear in the parade, and it is quite probable that there will be a considerable delegation in the marching columns who will not be in uniform.

Special features which will embellish Glendale's entry are the big elephant in Elks' trappings that will carry the officers of the lodge and a wild west escort of cowboys on white horses, with an old-time stage coach and all the gay paraphernalia that delights eastern visitors.

The assembling point for the Glendale lodge is on the west side of Olive between Pico and 14th streets and the line of march according to present plans will be north on Hill to Eighth or Ninth, east to Broadway, north on Broadway to Second, east on Second to Spring, south on Spring to Ninth, east on Ninth to Los Angeles street, the disbanding point.

MILK PROFITEERS TO FACE A FEDERAL INCOME TAX PROBE

"Oh, what a tangled web we weave
When first we practice to deceive."
And now comes United States Internal Revenue Collector Carter inquiring into the excess profits of the Los Angeles milk profiteers to see how the tax schedules they turned in compare with the incomes which recent investigations show they have been receiving. One official reputed to own 70 per cent of the stock of one of the companies last year is said to have received an income of $37,875, from an investment of only $35,000.

In view of what has been revealed to date of the manner in which enormous profits were covered up by charges of depreciation, padded wage accounts, etc., the Milk Consumers' Association is trying to get the internal revenue department to go into the case as any probing it may do will be thorough and the government does not view lightly misstatement in income tax returns. It is a serious offense punishable by imprisonment.

Another method of reducing the cost of milk is being advocated by the Municipal League of Los Angeles which has invited county supervisors to attend a luncheon Friday at which the consolidation of city and county milk inspection will be discussed. It is claimed that the two systems make a double and unnecessary expense; they overlap and lead to friction and that the unification would be for the interest of all concerned. The Milk Consumers' Association is said to be backing the effort to have the dual system abrogated.

Whatever is learned will have to come by probe, all right, as the milk barons when invited by woman's organizations interested in the matter to explain or make statements on their own behalf, declined the invitations "by advice of our attorneys."

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH AND BIBLE SCHOOL CABINET MEETINGS

At the meeting of the official board of Central Christian Church, Tuesday night, the pastor, Clifford A. Gole was informed that he was expected to attend the annual convention of Disciples of Christ at Wagon Lake, Ind., August 30 to September 5, the church paying all his expenses. He will take his four weeks' vacation this month and next, in installments, spending two weeks in Long Beach and two weeks in the mountains. It was announced that bids for building the new church will be opened on July 12. The treasurers' report showed the church's finances to be in excellent condition. The missionary budget, $2000 for the year, has been met already and exceeded by over $300, though but nine months of the church year have passed.

The Bible School cabinet held a business meeting last night after the conclusion of the regular prayer meeting and Bible study, the latter of which was on the books of Hebrews, James and Jude. At this meeting arrangements were made for paying half the expenses of a delegate to the Asilomar mission study and all the expenses of one pupil of the school attending the young people's summer conference at Santa Monica, now in session. The secretary's report showed that the attendance is gradually increasing and the financial statement was particularly gratifying.

TEXAS MAN MAY RETURN TO MAKE HOME HERE

Walter E. Taylor of Fort Worth, Tex., who has been the guest of his daughters, Mrs. Allie Anderson and the Misses Cymbel and Katherine Taylor of East California avenue, left Sunday night to return to his home. He was so impressed with California, not to say delighted, that he is thinking seriously of coming back to make his permanent home here. Miss Cymbel Taylor and her niece Walta Aileen Anderson are leaving today for Waco, Texas, to visit Miss Taylor's sister. They will be gone about thirty days. Miss Taylor has been acting supervisor of domestic science in the Intermediate School.

Kaiser Believes in Return to Power

(By International News Service)
BERLIN, July 7.—Kaiser Wilhelm's vacation at Amerongen and Doorn has not convinced him but that some day a Hohenzollern will return to the helm of Germany. In 1913 the Berliner Lehrergesangverein, or teachers' singing society, was victorious in the national singing tournament, and Kaiser Wilhelm gave them as a prize a gold "Kaiser chain." This chain was to become the annual trophy for the victors in the competition.

The national singing tournaments are again being held, and the Berlin Society has just returned from a trip through the Rhineland. The directors wrote directly to the Kaiser to ask what disposition should be made of the famous Kaiser chain. The answer, signed by the adjutant of the Kaiser, states:

"I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, with thanks, the contents of which I have not failed to lay before His Majesty, the Emperor and King. His Majesty takes the standpoint that, the Berliner Lehrergesangverein having won the prize in 1913, the chain should remain in possession of the society until a new Emperor invites the clubs to a new singing competition."

Ground was broken Tuesday at the corner of Sixth street and Grand View avenue for the construction of what will probably be the most modern and up-to-date funeral chapel in the southwest, according to Len C. Davis, of the Grand View Memorial Park Corporation, who yesterday stated that the cost of the structure would be $14,000.

At the suggestion of local undertakers and with a view to offering the greatest possible convenience to the public the chapel will be erected, on the ground level to avoid the necessity of climbing steps. Separate entrance and rooms will be provided for members of the deceased's family, the public, and the undertaker in charge of the funeral and separate driveways will be maintained to the entrances of the chapel.

The structure itself will be finished in stucco and will be modeled after the Italian style. Provision will be made for eighteen receiving vaults. The contract calls for the completion of the chapel by the end of September.

Amazing strides have been made during the past year in improving this cemetery. A $5,000 office building was erected, the new addition on the west which last year was a melon patch, has been graded as has also the acreage added on the north. A beautiful entrance arch has been put up, which has added much to the improvement of the grounds.

GLENDAL PEOPLE AT WORLD'S C. E. CONVENTION

Today's news dispatches tell of the wonderful Christian Endeavor meeting in New York City, which began yesterday, attending which are 15,000 delegates representing 4,000,000 Endeavorers from all over the world. It may not be generally known that the largest Christian Endeavor Society in the world a few years back and in all probability at this time, is in Bolengi, Africa, where devoted missionaries of the Christian Church have done such a wonderful work. Dr. Royal J. Dye and his energetic little wife, now living in Hollywood and both of whom attended the recent C. E. convention in Glendale, started the work there about 20 years ago and they remained at their post of duty until alarmed physicians declared to Dr. Dye that his state of health absolutely demanded that he leave at once for the home land, never to return. He has done a grand work here since his enforced retirement, as has Mrs. Dye, also. Well-known Glendale people now on this field, now comprising five stations, of which Bolengi is the head, are Mrs. Evelyn Utter Pearson and Dr. George Mosher.

TRUSTEES OF LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL FILL THREE POSITIONS

The high school board of trustees met Tuesday night and filled three vacancies in the teaching staff. Walter Gorman, of Glendale, who has been acting as instructor for the class of carpenters that has been meeting Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons in the manual arts building, was elected wood shop instructor for the coming year.

Earl T. Brown, who has been head of the science department in Claremont high school and instructor in sanitation in the University of Southern California, was elected teacher of chemistry and head of the science department.

Walter L. Nourse, who has been for a number of years assistant head master in a boys' private school in Massachusetts, was elected teacher of general science.

Bids were accepted for apparatus for the girls' gymnasium and for supplementary apparatus for the boys' gymnasium.

MISERIES OF AGE

"THE paper tells of an old man who fell out of bed and broke an arm and three ribs," announced the landlady. "It doesn't seem possible, unless the bed was as high as an ordinary, old-fashioned walnut bookcase."

"I have no doubt that the bed was entirely normal," said the star boarder. "The fact that the victim was an old man explains everything. When I was young I frequently fell out of bed. It was a favorite pastime of mine, so to speak. And I never was injured in the least. Of course it roused me from my sleep, and I used to consider it funny, and would sit on the floor and laugh with demoniac glee. But if I fell out of bed now it would be necessary to ring up the Red Cross headquarters for an ambulance and a few nurses."

"It is that sort of thing which makes age tragic. Every little mishap means suffering to the elderly individual. Go think of it, in silence and alone, Mrs. Jiggers."

"I remember when I first learned to skate. I was a young man, just growing my maiden sideboards. I should have learned the noble art when I was a boy, but my education in honest sports had been sadly neglected. It's better late than never, as the old adage has it, and so I took up the study of skating when I was at the voting age. It was on a brilliant winter day, and all the beauty and chivalry of the neighborhood had gathered at the pond to see me do my devil."

"An expert skater who was present assured me that there was no trick to it. All I needed was confidence, he said, and I believed him. It looked passing easy, as I watched the others, gliding over the ice with ease and grace. So I fastened on my skates and stood erect, with the help of a couple of innocent bystanders, and then I went forward boldly, on my own initiative. Immediately I lost control of my feet, which previously had been docile and obedient organs. They wouldn't do anything I wanted them to, and the result was that I came down on the back of my head with such emphasis that I shook the whole pond, which was several miles long. The crack in the ice that I made with my head was there until the ice melted in the spring, and then you could see it in the water."

"I lay there in a comatose condition for a minute or two, and then scrambled to my feet and smiled. Yes, my dear Mrs. Jiggers, I actually smiled. The smile may have been a pallid, sickly thing, but it was true to type and couldn't have been mistaken for anything else. I was so little injured by that cataclysmic fall that I could smile. Not a bone was broken, not a joint dislocated. In a few hours I was as good as new, with the exception of a lump on the back of my head about the size of a baked turnip."

"Outwardly I look much as I did then. People often say to me that I haven't aged any in a quarter of a century. My hair is like the raven's wing, my alabaster brow has few wrinkles, I have the stately and commanding port of a man half my age. But it is all a delusion, Mrs. Jiggers. I am a whitened sepulcher. Inwardly I am as old as any man, and my bones are brittle as pipe stems, and my muscles are all dried up, and if I stumble over a pin cushion I dislocate an ankle or break a leg."

"The other day I stepped on an orange peel and came down on the side walk. I didn't fall violently. In fact, it took me ten minutes to fall. I struggled so hard to save myself, grasping at the atmosphere and trying to balance myself like a tight rope walker. But when I did eventually reach the pavement I felt as though the end had come to my mispent life. My head ached for three days, and all my bones felt out of place, and my teeth were loose in their sockets. This thing of being old, Mrs. Jiggers, isn't what it's cracked up to be."

Very Likely.

Church: "Do you remember when they used to put a culliope at the end of a circus procession?"
Gotham: "Sure, I do."
"Why did they do that do you suppose?"
"To show that the worst was yet to come, I reckon."

Made No Rash Promises.

"Who was the smooth talker?"
"A promoter."
"I dare say he wanted to make you rich in six months?"
"No. He was very conservative. He said he thought it would take at least a year."

The Reason.

"I see in a new production of 'Othello' they use electric lights in the murder scene."
"Probably that is to make Desdemona's death more shocking."

BIG CAT FRIGHTENS PASSENGERS ON SHIPBOARD

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—A modern ark today was discharging here the rarest and most valuable collection of jungle animals that has come to the United States since before the war. In anticipation of its arrival, curators of eastern zoos have been arriving here for several days to be on hand when the animals arrived.

Most noteworthy of the jungle arrivals are: A giant man-killing cobra. Three male and two female black leopards—freaks of animal life.

Nine orangutangs from Borneo—one weighing 350 pounds and being the largest ever brought to America. A male panda—the original "bear cat."

Three real pythons, 21 to 24 feet long.

Six sacred monkeys of India. A huge female whitethroat gibbon, which whistles like a steam calliope.

Three pair of crested fireback pheasants.

A bush-tail porcupine. The ark is the big steamer Granite State and its 100 passengers had the thrill of their lives when a big leopard escaped after a big wave had smashed the cage on the deck of the ship. Two cadets and a mess boy were attacked by the leopard but they escaped serious injury.

The animals were collected by D. S. Raab of Inglewood, Calif., in India and Borneo and are valued at more than $200,000. Mrs. Raab acted as nurse to the orangutangs, they requiring baby food, hot water bottles, woolly shawls and soothing syrup.

J. S. Edwards of the Lincoln Park zoo, Chicago, and Raymond Lee Dittmar of the New York zoo are two of the leading bidders for animals in the Raab collection. Dittmar is especially anxious to secure the orangutangs and brought his wife with him to care for them on the trip to New York.

PARIS WANTS A TEMPLE OF SPORT

PARIS, July 7.—The creation of a world sport capital, where all future Olympic games should take place, is urged by Frantz Reichel, a well-known French writer, who is trying to enlist the support of French athletic organizations and members of Parliament.

Reichel would have France contribute this great center of athletics to the sporting world. He would have this modern Olympus built just outside the gates of Paris and, if possible, along the River Seine, so that aquatic events could be seen from the Olympic stadiums. He is urging the Government to act in time to have part of the new sport city built for the Olympic games in Paris in 1924.

The plans of the French writer are summed up as follows:

"The idea of recreating the Olympic games came from a Frenchman, and it was in Paris that the project for the first Olympic meet of modern times, the one held in Athens in 1896, was conceived. Now is the time for Paris to construct an Olympic city, on ancient lines, in such grandiose style that all nations will agree to have all future Olympic competitions here. Let us create at the same time and within the walls of this sport city a splendid international athletic institute, with the best instructors in the world, a real temple of sport to which athletic youths of the world will flock as they flocked to Athens in ancient times."

"We should have the most modern installations, with all facilities for training and for caring for the great crowds at athletic events. There should be a gigantic stadium capable of seating 100,000 persons, with stands 100 feet high encircling the fields for football and other athletic games. Under this stadium should be great massage rooms, baths and well-furnished quarters, where the athletes might live during competitions, away from noisy hotels and city life."

"At one side of the stadium should be another vast terrain, where young athletes could carry on their exercises under the eyes of skillful trainers. There should be another stadium for swimming events, one for lawn tennis, a stadium for boxing and an open-air, as well as a covered, gymnasium."

"Attached to this Olympic city should be doctors who know athletics and how to give advice to athletes."

BROWNS IN BOUQUET CANYON DURING FOREST FIRE

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Brown of Milford street, and family, joined a group of friends who had planned to spend the Fourth in Bouquet canyon in the Antelope valley, and to meet at the falls the special friends with whom they were to spread their picnic lunch. The friends were coming from the other direction, and met them all right, having started early, but as their way home was blocked by the mountain fire that broke out during the day, they had to return by way of Mini canyon. The Browns had opportunity to watch the conflagration and to be sprinkled with ashes occasionally, but were not at all nervous about it and before they left, it was under control.

Mrs. Brown was much impressed by the efficiency of the chemicals now used in fighting such fires where water is not available. They found it very hot in the canyon and the ocean breeze that struck them when they emerged from it on the return trip was decidedly refreshing.

ADDISONS CAMP AT BIG ROCK SPRINGS

The Addisons decided to get out of the beaten track in taking a weekend outing, and motored to Big Rock creek, the other side of Palmdale in the Antelope valley, where they found a lovely camping site, although it is quite a distance to go. The party included Mr. and Mrs. John Addison of 114 North Belmont street, and their niece, Miss Knapp; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Addison and daughters, and Mrs. Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Houston and family are at home from a family reunion at Hermosa Beach, a big party of relatives who occupied four cottages on the beach and who had a jolly time together, bathing and doing other ocean-side stunts. Mrs. Houston says they counted themselves exceedingly fortunate in their outing, as they watched the electric cars go by on the Fourth packed to the guards with fathers of families hanging on with most insecure footing, and trailing perambulators in the wind.

IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE MADE IN THIRD STREET TUNNEL

Glendale people who make use of the Third street tunnel in Los Angeles will be interested in learning the decision arrived at by the Los Angeles city council which will take action on a proposal made by Captain McDowell, of the police traffic division of that city, that a ventilating system be installed to rid the tunnel of offensive fumes.

Addressing a communication to the board of public works of Los Angeles, Captain McDowell asserted that pedestrians and persons riding in automobiles through the tunnel during the morning business hours were in danger of suffocation. At certain hours of the day, it is declared, automobiles frequently require five or more minutes to make the passage through the tunnel which is an additional menace.

THE BAN OF STYLES

Officials of two large railroad companies have announced a ban on low-necked, short-sleeved dresses with knee-length skirts, for women employees. Such clothes, when worn by women employed in offices, lower the working efficiency of their male associates, it is claimed.

In reply, many of the women affected by the new order have declared that it is an infringement on personal liberty, and they will maintain their right to wear whatever they please.

Personal liberty is not easy to define. In general, the law gives all persons the right to do whatever they please as long as their acts do not interfere with the rights of other people. What shall constitute the limitations of such acts is usually left for judges and juries to determine in each individual case, but this is not always true; there are cases in which it has been found advisable to fix such limitations by legislation. When such is the case, it is almost impossible to make laws to apply to an entire class of people without injustice to some members of that class. Such was the case with nation-wide prohibition. Had intoxicating liquors been used moderately by everyone, as they were used by many, it is not likely that we ever would have had laws prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicants.

Nearly everyone will admit that during the last few years women have shown better judgment than ever before in the matter of dress. Tight, unhealthful and uncomfortable garments which resisted free movement of the body and impaired the health of the wearer, and long skirts, trailing in the dust, to collect filth and disease germs, disappeared with the onward march of civilization, never to return.

Women doubtless have a right to dress in such a manner that they will be comfortable, and comparatively few women are abusing that right. However, a few doubtless are and, as was the case with prohibition, the class may have to suffer for the excesses of a few individuals.

Employers say women employees have gone to one extreme and the women say their employers have gone to the other extreme in barring short sleeves, low necks and skirts three or four inches above their shoe tops.

Doubtless their differences will ultimately be settled by a compromise which will be satisfactory to both employees and employers, with perhaps the exception of a few persons in each class who have radical ideas.

BATTLESHIP A FLOATING TARGET

The outworn battleship, the Iowa, was used the other day as a target by United States bombing planes. The floating fortress was directed by radio and the planes, sailing overhead, dropped a score of bombs on the Iowa, two making direct hits. When the American White Squadron steamed away to rout the Spanish fleet at the beginning of the Spanish-American war, the Iowa was the newest warship afloat, having just been completed the year before at a cost of more than five million dollars. Today she is a floating target. There is food for thought for the jingoes who are forever talking for greater fleets. Congress has agreed to spend approximately $417,000,000 on the navy, which is more than twice the naval appropriation in 1916, when the whole world was in the clutches of war.

GRAVE AND GAY

A cheerful giver usually has a cheerful liver.

Money makes the mare go, and it also sometimes makes an ass of its owner.

No man could ever understand why any woman should be jealous of any husband.

Then there are the theater-goers who are shocked when they go to the theater and are not shocked.

Did you ever know a woman who, on seeing a baby, did not remark: "Oh, isn't he cute?"

To see the cause of your failure, look in the mirror.

What wives should know is that husbands would rather have them run bills up than run themselves down.

If you expect things to go wrong, you seldom will be disappointed.

When a speaker announces that he has one more word to say before he quits talking, ever notice how the audience brightens up?

Women may not be logical, but who wants them to be and how many men are?

When you feel above your job, it's pretty certain your job is above you.

When Youth and Inexperience start out to reform the world they are always shocked to discover that the world doesn't want their kind of reform, but Age and Experience, bent on the same mission, try to conceal the fact that they are attempting a reform and by appealing to reason or prejudice sometimes accomplish that which they seek.

A North Dakota man who was married by a judge in Kentucky has written, asking for a divorce "by return mail." They'll be applying for them by telephone soon.

A Long Island judge has instructed a man to obey his wife for a week, and it is not improbable that the lady will make it an indeterminate sentence.

Add summer resort notes: After mature consideration, Mr. Eugene V. Debs has finally decided to spend the entire season at Atlanta, Ga.

Royalties have finally come to "Sweet By and By," written in 1865; a fact which does not necessarily mean the turning of the tide in royalty's favor.

General Ludendorff, who tells Germany that she cannot hope for success in fighting the French, is in a position to speak from experience.

For all that a man can be honest without being either fat or profane—if he really wants to.

Bonding companies give the lie to the assertion that nobody loves a fat man.

Perhaps an office might sometime seek the man if the man were not so busy seeking the office that he's not at home when the office calls.

Of course, it doesn't pay to worry but who worries with the idea of being paid for it?

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

By JOSEPHINE FRANCE

Finance for Women

Do not, under any circumstances, permit a desire for "big profits" to endanger your principal. The safety of the funds you wish to invest should be the first thought in your mind at all times.

Investors in general should heed the above warning, but it applies more particularly to women. Whenever we hear of the failure of a project that had been promoted by the sale of stock it is usually accompanied by the statement: "Widows formed a large proportion of those who had risked their money in the undertaking."

Always remember that when an abnormal return is promised for your money it usually carries with it the possible loss of part or all of the principal invested.

Promoters of legitimate enterprises seldom have much difficulty in obtaining necessary capital. They need not go to the man or woman with but a few thousand dollars. Bankers or wealthy individuals are glad to furnish necessary development funds at a reasonable rate of interest.

The average man or woman very seldom is offered the opportunity to participate in the really good propositions from which abnormally high returns are foreseen. It's a fairly sure guess that when unusually large gains from invested funds are absolutely assured you or any other person not directly interested will never hear of it.

Beware of the glib-tongued stock salesman who points out to you a list of prominent money-making corporations in which thousands of dollars are said to have been made by the stockholders on every $10 originally paid in. This is one of the "pet talking points." He is capitalizing the energy and progressiveness of real workers in favor of what usually is nothing but a stock-selling scheme, with no tangible assets or necessary product behind it.

"Be sure it's safe, then go ahead!" should be the motto always in the mind of the woman with money to invest.

To Do It Properly

A hostess should extend her hand when introduced to anyone, saying cordially: "Miss Smith, I am very glad to meet you," or, "How do you do, Miss Smith; it is a very great pleasure to know you." It is always proper for a woman when introduced to offer her hand.

A hostess should rise to acknowledge an introduction to either man or woman. A woman who is a guest at a tea, dinner or ball, does not rise when a man is introduced to her, nor when in a group to which a woman is presented, unless it is an older person or one of some distinction, or unless she is seated by her hostess.

Introduction should not be made at the table.

A hostess should not appear to go out of her way (to make introductions) or interrupt a conversation.

A woman's permission should be obtained before presenting a gentleman to her.

A note of introduction must be placed in an addressed but unsealed envelope.

A woman having a letter from a friend introducing her to a third party should not present it in person, but should mail the letter, enclosing near card bearing her address, and then wait for the third party to call upon her.

After an invitation to dinner or a private entertainment, whether accepted or not, a call should be paid within a fortnight.

A young man, wishing to call upon a young lady, should first be introduced to her house by some friend in common, and should pay the first call accompanied by him.

When serving tea, it's polite to offer a caller a second cup, yet it is poor taste to force food and drink upon one who has once refused.

On a day at home, women callers do not kiss in greeting nor do they remove their gloves when taking tea.

A man should rise when a woman caller enters or rises to depart and when anyone is presented to him.

Bessie Love is an expert gardener.

Naomi Childers is now the wife of Luther Reed, scenarist and playwright.

Marie Prevost really dragged her director, King Baggot, from a swimming pool in which he was unconscious.

Buster Keaton and Natalie Talmadge are still honeymooning in Hollywood.

Blanche Sweet continues to be among those missing from the screen.

Charlie Chaplin will appear in several scenes in his current picture, "The Idle Class," as is.

Mildred Harris is now called "Miss Exquisite."

H. B. Warner, J. D. Hampton star for several years, has returned to the legitimate stage.

Frank Keenan has scored heavily in a stage revival of "Rip Van Winkle."

Pauline Frederick is conceded to be the best actress on the screen.

Hope Hampton is expected to make several pictures in Hollywood this fall.

Edith Hallor a Beautiful Girl

While it is conceded that Edith Hallor, starring in "Just Outside the Door," a Select Picture, is one of the most beautiful women appearing in public, very few people know that it was on account of her superb physical perfection that she first entered the ranks of the celebrities of the screen.

A few short years ago, Miss Hallor had just entered the theatrical profession via musical comedy. In a short time her talent and beauty had elevated her from the ranks of the ensemble to a small part. At that time a prominent and most artistic director was preparing to make a most pretentious allegorical production based upon the eternal feminine. The picture was to be made in episodes, each representing a distinct period of humanity, starting with the time of the Creation and continuing until modern times.

The type of woman for every period had been found except the one most important. That was to be the first woman, the perfect woman. One night, by chance, the director's keen eye noted Miss Hallor on the stage. Introductions followed and a text was made. To the director's delight, it was discovered that "the perfect woman" not only "screened" as well as she appeared on the stage, but she had much latent dramatic talent.

So it was as Eve, the first woman, that Edith Hallor played her first role on the screen.

Marjorie Daw was born in Colorado Springs, Colo., in 1902.

was penniless. The "Imp" is left to reap his wild oats and Dick learns that Phyllis had loved him, not the "Imp," all the time.

THEATERS

Glendale Theatre

Nat Goodwin's old success, "When We Were Twenty-One," offers splendid photoplay material and a perfect role for that actor of poise, polish and refinement, H. B. Warner. As produced by Jesse D. Hampton, directed by Henry King and splendidly enacted by a cast including James Morrison, Christine Mayo and Claire Anderson, and presented at the Glendale theater yesterday, it amused the audience in spots, thrilled them in others, gave them a warm glow of sentiment about the heart at other times, and entirely interested and pleased throughout.

Mr. Warner plays the role of Dick Carewe, whose ambition seems to be to see his ward, the "Imp," married to Phyllis. The girl, however, loves the guardian, but believes that she will be giving him the greatest happiness by marrying the ward.

The "Imp" falls for a siren who is after his money. When Dick fails to make the boy see the folly of marriage to such a woman, he prepares to sacrifice himself to save the boy, but the "Imp" has already married her. The parting came the same day with the knowledge that the "Imp"

Palace Grand

A picture for old and young alike—that is the description that may be applied to Paramount's screen version of Sir James M. Barrie's "Sentimental Tommy," which will be the feature at the Palace Grand today and tomorrow.

It is doubtful that many grown-ups exist who haven't a fond memory of Tommy's imagination and practically all of the youngsters today have read about him at one time or another.

The story begins with Tommy's entrance with his sister, Elspeth, to the Scotch village of Thrums and his rescue of Grizel from a crowd of youngsters who are throwing stones at her. It gives many episodes showing Tommy's flights of imagination, which are humorous and wholesome. The story takes Tommy and Grizel to maturity, when Grizel becomes demoralized after she finds her childhood sweetheart with another woman in his arms. The closing scenes are dramatic and full of heart interest.

The role of Tommy is played by Gareth Hughes, a popular young leading man. May McAvoy is Grizel.

MOTHER AND SON IN SUICIDE PACT AND MAY DIE AS A RESULT

(By International News Service)
PARIS, July 7.—Though their lives hang on but a tiny thread, there is a chance that both Madame de Guise Hite, divorced wife of George E. Harbough, former Cleveland, Ohio, millionaire now living at El Cajon, Calif., and her son, George Harbough, Jr., 24, may survive their attempts at suicide some time yesterday.

The mother is at the American hospital, suffering from the effects of drinking a strong dose of veronal. Doctors believe she will live unless complications set in. Young Harbough who, in his room at an obscure hotel, cut his wrists, then called his mother on the telephone and hearing that she had drank the poison, likewise took a quantity of veronal, is in a precarious condition, aggravated, the doctors say, by excessive drinking of late in dancing palaces. The mother's suicide attempt was made in her apartments at the fashionable Hotel de France et Chisleul.

The police were busy today tracing the threads of the near-tragedy across the Atlantic. They were anxious particularly to establish the truth of the boy's statement that his father cut off both him and his mother from all income. The authorities also communicated with Frank de Guise Hite, the mother's second husband—from whom she also has been divorced.

Only thirty white men have visited Katmai which is the largest active volcano in the world. Its rim is three miles in diameter. The lecture will be illustrated by 100 colored slides made from the very beautiful photographs secured by Mr. Folsom, showing the greatest eruption of recent times and in the opinion of some scientists, one of the seven wonders of the world. JUDGE LOWE BACK AT HIS OLD PLACE

Glendale was yesterday without the services of a police judge. Fortunately there were no cases of a nature requiring immediate dispensation of justice, so the temporary vacancy of the office had no grave consequences.

With the new charter form of city government coming into effect on July 5 the recorder's court ceased to exist and automatically, under the provisions of the charter, a police court came into existence with the authority of appointing a judge, to preside over it, vested in the city council. On Tuesday night when the city council met the matter of appointing a police judge was overlooked so for twenty-four hours following, until a quorum of the council was convened last night, the office was vacant.

Judge Lowe, who received the appointment, was in his office as usual this morning transacting the customary court business.

Ver of the truck, admitted he was looking in another direction at the time of the collision.

CITY COUNCIL TO BE GUESTS OF C. OF C. AT DINNER

With a view to establishing a plane of cooperation between the city government and the chamber of commerce, the board of directors of the chamber have extended an invitation to the members of the new city council to attend a "get-together" dinner at the White Inn next Tuesday night at 6:30.

According to J. A. Rhoades, secretary of the chamber of commerce, the body which he represents is anxious to set out on a campaign of civic activities that will improve, build up and in general make Glendale a more desirable place than it has ever been before. To effect such a program it will be necessary for the chamber of commerce to support the city council and in turn, team work on their part will aid in making civic improvements a reality, pointed out Mr. Rhoades.

A letter of invitation sent out by the board of directors of the chamber of commerce to members of the city council contains the following paragraph, explanatory of the object of the dinner:

"We are very desirous of meeting you and personally offering our services to assist you in every way possible in the great and important work before you."

Funeral services for Donald Franklin, who died yesterday, will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn memorial park. They will be conducted by the Rev. C. M. Calderwood.

FORMER RECORDER F. H. LOWE IS NOW POLICE JUDGE

Judge F. H. Lowe, formerly of the local recorder's court, was, at a special session of the city council last night, appointed and sworn in as police judge of the city of Glendale; the appointment to take effect immediately.

Commenting on the appointment this morning, Judge Lowe expressed his gratification over the unanimous vote cast by members of the city council in electing him to the office of police judge. He stated that the official policy he has pursued in the past will be followed in his present capacity.

Realizing that his office is one which carries considerable civic prestige and that it is a channel through which he is able to effect considerable influence, Judge Lowe declared that he would exert every effort to be of public service and that he would work to bring about both moral and physical changes wherever they might be deemed necessary for civic betterment.

HONOR THE FLAG

The Glendale Daily Press struck a responsive chord in its offer of a beautiful bunting flag with each yearly subscription paid in advance. All we could procure at that time were speedily taken and many applied for the flags after the supply had been exhausted. To satisfy these demands we have ordered a new supply, and these will be given on the same terms as were the first. The Daily Press is not doing this as a money-making proposition, for the flags are quite costly and the paper is worth every cent asked for it, but we desire to do our bit toward stimulating patriotism and reverence for the flag. We hope to eventually see "Old Glory" displayed in every Glendale home, and we want to do our part toward bringing this about.

Fill out the coupon below and bring it or mail it to the office, accompanied with $5 for a year's advance subscription, and a flag will be laid away for you. If in arrears, pay to date and a year in advance to get the flag.
